Southampton College, and our Marine Skills Centre, have a long established provision training the next generation of the marine industry. We boast a full time study provision, as well as a suite of Apprenticeships. We not only offer specialist technical training, specific to the industry but also a range of wider programmes to support the development and growth of our local marine employers.

Now part of the newly merged South Hampshire College Group, we are investing heavily in our facilities to bring them up to spec with our excellent staff, and provide even greater training opportunities to our local community.
